Instructions

Dear Household member

An interviewer from World bank in collaboration with University of Dar es Salaam has visited your household and has left you this diary to record your production (example: harvest, fishing, hunting, etc.), spending and receipt of gifts of food and other frequently consumed items for the next 14 days.

This diary is an important part of the Survey of Household Welfare and Labour in Tanzania (SHWALITA) and your cooperation is crucial to be able to determine the economic situation of Tanzanian households.

Your Household has been randomly chosen. The data collected for this survey is strictly confidential and the information collected will be used for statistical purposes only; all information will remain anonymous.

Goal of the diary

Measuring consumption of households is an important part of measuring welfare of a country. This diary intends to measure the consumption of your household. It does this by adding up everything that comes into your household (through harvests, purchases, gifts, etc.) and subtracting from it everything that went out of your household (things you sold, things you gave away, things that were lost or stolen) over a two week period. At the end of the diary the interviewer will also ask you about changes in your stocks

Instructions for filling out this diary

- You should fill in your diary every day so that you no entries are forgotten
- You should record all goods and services you or other household members obtain during the 14 days, even if they are on credit or delayed payment and some or all of the payment will be paid during some other period.
- You should record all goods and services you or other household members obtain during the 14 days, even if they are on credit or delayed payment and some or all of the payment will be paid during some other period.
- Even if the item that is purchased, produced or received as a gift is for a large quantity that will be used longer than the 14 day period of the diary, please record it.
- You should not record any payments made during the 14 days of diary keeping for goods that you or other household members had already obtained.
- Please remember to record in the diary all foods that you or other household members eat outside of the home, such as meals bought at food stalls and restaurants, drinks and other small items
- Please record details about each item that you or other household members obtain by buying, producing or receiving a gift rather than making them as a group. For example, you have to record mangoes, pineapples and bananas separately, not as "fruits"
- If you or any other household member buys an item one day (e.g. on Monday) and give some of it away a couple of days later (e.g. Thursday), please report the amount you give away in the section of the diary for Thursday on selling or giving away from stocks.
- Use Q5 for all disposals that cannot be included in other tables. For example if you buy maize grains, grind them and give away as maize flour then record the disposal in the 'gifts and other disposals' section.
- If you or any other household member make acquire something with the sole intention of re-sale or for giving away, then you need not include it when buying the item, nor when selling it. But if all or part of the purchase is for home consumption, then you should record both the purchase and the sale.
- You do not need to write down receipts of money, only receipts of goods and services. Similarly you do not need to write down money you or other household members gave to someone else, even if it was intended for them to buy goods with. For example, you make an entry when you give someone a bowl of sugar, but not when you give someone money to buy a bowl of sugar.
- If you take a trip outside this locality during the 14 days please give this diary to another person in the household to capable to fill it in.
